North West Ambulance Service NHS Trust: Using vacancy creation functionality in the all-new NHS Jobs service

NHS Jobs Private Beta with users of Trac

Following our Private Beta project, NHS Jobs are now onboarding users of the third party recruitment platform, Trac, to the all-new version of NHS Jobs which will fully launch in 2021. The pilot has been successful with the Trusts involved now posting all of their adverts on the new NHS Jobs service.

Our partnership with NWAS

NHS Jobs started working with Trac user, North West Ambulance Service NHS Trust (NWAS), in June 2020. The partnership has been invaluable to NHS Jobs, as it has allowed essential testing of new service features to take place within a large NHS organisation, with the valuable feedback helping with the development of the new service.

NWAS serve more than 7 million people across 5,400 square miles and respond to over a million emergency incidents each year.

BETA NWAS' journey through Private Beta

James Murphy, HR Hub Quality and Performance Manager at NWAS, and his team trialled the vacancy creation process. James felt that the new layout and the use of boxes was a great improvement and made the process more user-friendly. The Trust also found that there was a reduction in waiting time through the API. James and his team found that the new system was similar to the current NHS Jobs service to operate and they were able to create vacancies easily within the new system.

"We've been using the new service for around two months now and myself and the rest of the team are fully competent – it's simple and easy to use." James Murphy, HR Hub Quality and Performance Manager. North West Ambulance Service NHS Trust

Looking towards the future

NHS Jobs are continuing to work alongside NWAS and our other private beta partners to test and improve the NHS Jobs future service.

NHS Jobs are extremely grateful for the support, commitment and enthusiasm shown by our Private Beta partners. The feedback and insight they are providing is invaluable in helping to create an NHS Jobs service that meets user needs.
